

Atheism and Scientific Racism

Atheism and scientific racism

Here I will be covering why and how Atheism supports the beliefs of scientific racism.
Atheism, a disbelief in the existence of a God.

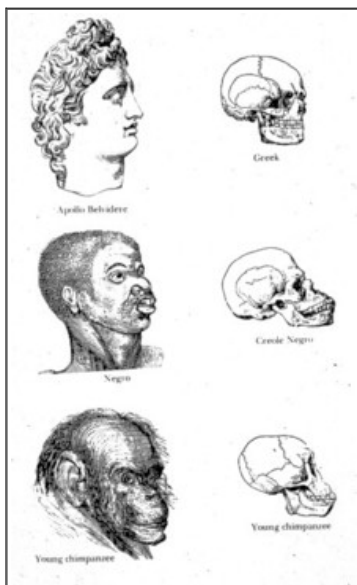

The core beliefs of scientific racism include things that Atheism also strongly agrees upon, like human evolution.

Atheism disagrees with the teachings of religions like Islam and Christianity, Atheists strongly disagree that all humans are descended from Adam & Eve and that we are all equal because of that, since those are religious teachings. So it all comes down to human evolution. Scientific racism uses human evolution as one of its core ideas to prove the inferiority of races, mainly the black race.

The philosophy of human evolution talks about how we have all gone through evolution, we were beings that lived under water, over time we developed eyes, a brain, and so on. But there were other creatures that were way more dangerous than us, to the point where our first ancestors had to evolve out of water. And that's how we grew lungs, and became land-species. But that's irrelevant to the purpose of this book. Let's jump a few million years after the "extinction of dinosaurs". We seem to have evolved out of our previous forms, we've started climbing trees, we've started becoming a bit more like humans.

The very first Homo Sapiens was born. We all know the story, the black "people" of that time immigrated to other places, eventually evolved to suit the climate of those places. Started their own civilizations, and over the years, we whites, asians, arabs, became what we are now, because we evolved from the first black "person", to another race.

You might ask, "how does that make black people inferior to other races in the eyes of Atheism"?

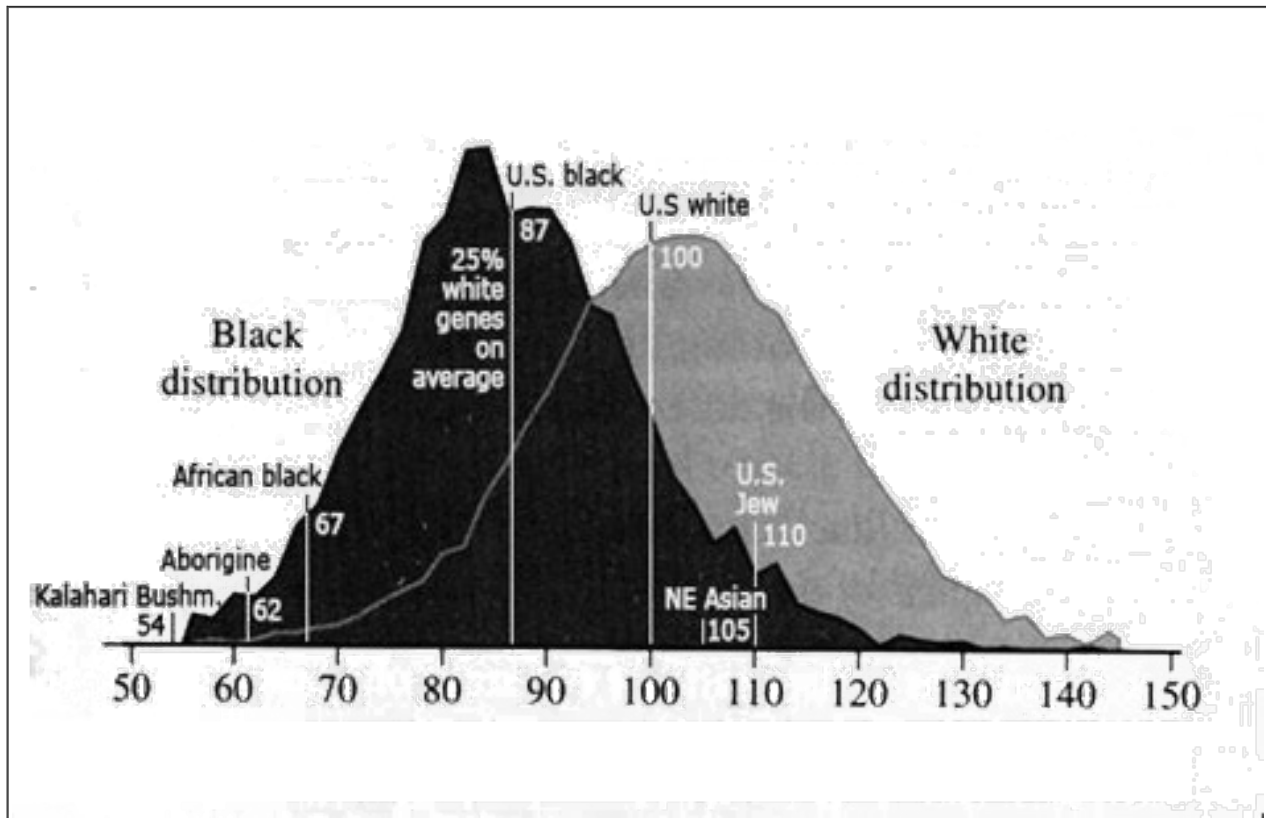

You have to ask instead, how does Atheism NOT make blacks "sub-human"?

I mean be honest, even one of the most renowned atheist that has written a lot of books about the human evolution, Charles Darwin, the person who has made the theory of darwism has said there were distinct races that could be ranked in a hierarchy.

The IQ question

The IQ of black people has been proven to be on average lower than a every other race's IQ.

Let's look at an "IQ Chart".

Looking at "IQ Maps" won't be very different either, the average IQ for a Black African can range between <65 to 71, meanwhile, the IQs of Arab, white, and Asian people are significantly higher (110+). Scientific racism would explain this as us being more evolved than blacks. And as I've shown above, black people are technically closer to apes than whites or other races. The negro skull, in addition to having a smaller brain volume and thicker cranial bones than that of the White or Arab and Asian one. So by the logic of scientific racism, they're technically closer to apes than white people.

And undoubtedly, lot's of what I've said so far about skulls, has come from one of the most important books about scientific racism, Crania Americana.

So, is Atheism technically paired with scientific racism? Yes

Sources:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Scientific_racism

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=StqZI9pMq0U>

<https://nationalvanguard.org/2016/07/14-reasons-iq-race-gap-is-genetic/>